WITNESS STATEMENT

I was looking at the murals myself when I noticed her. She was standing there, studying the walls — really taking her time.

She had some kind of document in her hand, with photos of different street art pieces on it. I thought she was putting together a collage, researching the local art scene.

When she left, I noticed the document on the ground. I picked it up — I thought she had dropped it by accident. But she was already gone.

I kept it. I thought someone might be looking for it.

ITEMS RECOVERED FROM THE TABLE

- A document with photos of street art murals from Christchurch CBD.
- Accompanied by written descriptions and handwritten notes.

I don't know what she was looking for. Maybe you do.
