WITNESS STATEMENT

She came for a tour of Rutherford's Den today and had lots of questions — more than most visitors. She was particularly fascinated by the life of Ernest Rutherford — the scientist, the man, what drove him.

At the end of the tour she asked if there was more information about the exact dates of his life. I told her about the bronze plaque on the outside of the Clock Tower on Worcester Boulevard. She went straight there and stood in front of it for a long time.

When she came back inside, she said she had written something — inspired by Rutherford and everything she had seen today. She handed it to me with a smile.

As she left, she turned and said:

"Now I remember what I was actually looking for."
